To whom it may concern,

Medcon's policy is not to provide recommendations regarding our service providers. However, we are glad to confirm that MWDN Ltd. has provided Medcon with software development outsourcing services in the cardiac information and physiologic signal management fields. These services, which have been provided over the past three years and are expected to continue in the future, have consistently met our high standards and have been to our complete satisfaction.

Sincerely,

Ophir Lotan

Director of product management
